JACK'S the lad!

If you go to the village shop today you will find a new range of products on sale under the brand name of Jack's. Supplied by Tesco, the name probably pays homage to Jack Cohen who was the founder of the supermarket chain in 1919.

In keeping with the shop's policy of providing as much choice as possible, Jack's is an economy range of goods, so the shop remains highly competitive in its offers – for some products there may now be three price points. This is in part a response to the unwelcome current trend of rapidly increasing prices so we still have products to suit all budgets.

However, having said that, if there's a product you would like but we don't stock, please ask one of our excellent volunteer staff or Ali the manager, and they will see if they can help.

Also, if you go to the shop today, you can benefit from the air conditioning that is on during the hot weather and why the door is closed. There's a constant supply of ice creams and cold drinks you can take away or you can sit for a while and enjoy a cup of tea or coffee and some homemade cakes and refreshments in a cool, calm and friendly environment.

In addition to groceries and provisions the shop stocks greetings cards, paintings and handmade gifts.

Your shop still needs you!

If you have an hour or so to spare during the week, we'd love you to contact a member of staff and enquire about the possibility of volunteering to serve behind the counter or to provide any assistance in the general running of the shop. There are always jobs that need doing and full training will be provided where necessary.

Shop frontage update

We continue to seek estimates for doing the work of restructuring the frontage of the shop. As many of you may know, finding a builder is not as straightforward as it used to be. And having found one, sourcing the materials is another problem area.
